D

DANIELS, GEORGE L. See LOWREY.

DENNIS, EVERETTE E. Foundations as Change Agents and Envoys of the Status Quo. 60:1, pp 13-16.

DEUZE, MARK. Multicultural Journalism Education in the Netherlands: A Case Study. 60:4, pp. 390-401.

G

GALE, KENDRA. Assessing the Impact of Ethics Instruction on Advertising and Public Relations Graduates. 60:3, pp 272-285.

GIESE, MARK. An Educator's Journal: Fall 2004, Guiding the Course through Pedagogy. 60:1, pp 72-75.

GIESE, MARK. An Educator's Journal: Evaluating and Evaluated. 60:3, pp 252-256.

H

HANSEN, KATHLEEN A. Values and Competencies from the Clash of Professional and Academic Cultures. 60:2, pp 130-134.

HETHER, HEATHER JANE. See CASTAÑEDA.

HOLM, NANCY GRAHAM. Best Practices of Television Journalism in Europe: How Anglo-American On-Camera Styles Violate Cultural Values, Denmark as a Case Study. 60:4, pp. 376-389.

K

KELLEHER, TOM. Applying the Technology Acceptance Model to Assess Outcomes in a Globally Linked Strategic Communication Project. 60:4, pp 402-414.

KRAEPLIN, CAMILLE. Building a Case for Convergence Journalism Curriculum. 60:1, pp 47-56.

KURPIUS, DAVID D. See MENDELSON.

L

LATTUCA, LISA R. The Constructivist Pedagogy We're Looking For. 60:4, pp 354-358.

LATTUCA, LISA R. Making Learning Visible: Student and Peer Evaluation. 60:3, pp 247-251.

LATTUCA, LISA R. A Peer Review Response: Active Pedagogy and the Link to Assessment. 60:1, pp 76-78.

LEE, BYOUNGKWAN. See SALMON.

LEPRE, CAROLYN. Little Common Ground for Magazine Editors and Professors Surveyed on Journalism Curriculum. 60:2, pp 190-200.

LOWREY, WILSON. Predictors of Convergence Curricula in Journalism and Mass Communication Programs. 60:1, pp 32-46.

M

MARREN, JOE. But I Still Haven't Found the Learning I'm Looking For. 60:4, pp 347-353.

MENDELSON, ANDREW L. Civic Usability in Internet Journalism Classes. 60:2, pp 202-216.

MIHAILIDIS, PAUL. Media Literacy in Journalism/Mass Communication: Can the United States Learn From Sweden? 60:4, pp 416-428.

MILLER, VERNON D. See SALMON.

MORTON, LINDA. Faculty Productivity and Carnegie Institutional Characteristics within AEJMC Programs. 60:2, pp 176-189.

MURPHY, SHEILA. See CASTAÑEDA.

O

OLIVER, MARY BETH. See SUNDAR.

O'MALLEY, MICHELLE. See KELLEHER.

P

PARDUN, CAROL J. When Disciplinary Associations Move Beyond the Status Quo. 60:1, pp 23-26.

PULLEN, RICK. Doing More with Less Is the Mantra of Burgeoning Enrollments. 60:1, pp 27-30.

R

RIFFE, DAN. Scholarly Journals as a Process and Practice Mirror. 60:2, pp 140-144.

S

SALMON, CHARLES T. Exploring Assorted Beliefs, Doubts, and Legends Regarding Quantitative Teaching Evaluations. 60:3, pp 258-271.

SMITH, SANDI W. See SALMON.

STEEVES, LESLIE H. Experiencing International Communication: An Internship Program in Ghana, West Africa. 60:4, pp. 360-375.

SUNDAR, S. SHYAM. Student-friendly Journals and Journal-friendly Curricula. 60:1, pp 6-12.

T

THORSON, ESTHER. Reconceptualizing the Influence of the News Industry on Journalism Graduate Education. 60:1, pp 17-22.

TUCKER, MARIA. See BECKER.

V

VLAD, TUDOR. See BECKER.

Subject Index

Editor's Note

Breathing New Life into Peer Review: It's Time for a Commission on Peer Review Criteria and Application (Jeremy Cohen) 60:3, pp 239-242.

Curricular Obesity (Jeremy Cohen) 60:2, pp 123-126.

Re-imagining the Means to Provide Our Children with the Tools of Information and Education (Jeremy Cohen) 60:4, pp 339-342.

Essay

Civic Usability in Internet Journalism Classes (Andrew L. Mendelson, Renita Coleman, and David D. Kurpius) 60:2, pp 202-216.

Teaching Literary Journalism: A Diverted Pyramid? (David Abrahamson) 60:4, pp 430-434.

Graduate Teaching Academy

Media Literacy in Journalism/Mass Communication: Can the United States Learn from Sweden? (Paul Mihailidis) 60:4, pp 416-428.

Peer Review

The Constructivist Pedagogy We're Looking For (Lisa R. Lattuca) 60:4, pp 354-358.

An Educator's Journal: Evaluating and Evaluated (Mark Giese) 60:3, pp 252-256.

An Educator's Journal: Fall 2004, Guiding the Course through Pedagogy (Mark Giese) 60:1, pp 72-75.

But I Still Haven't Found the Learning I'm Looking For (Joe Marren) 60:4, pp 347-353.

Making Learning Visible: Student and Peer Evaluation (Lisa R. Lattuca) 60:3, pp 247-251.

A Peer Review Response: Active Pedagogy and the Link to Assessment (Lisa R. Lattuca) 60:1, pp 76-78.

Research: Curriculum

Experiencing International Communication: An Internship Program in Ghana, West Africa (H. Leslie Steeves) 60:4, pp 360-375.

Building a Case for Convergence Journalism Curriculum (Camille Kraeplin and Carrie Anna Criado) 60:1, pp 47-56.

Little Common Ground for Magazine Editors and Professors Surveyed on Journalism Curriculum (Carolyn Lepre and Glen L. Bleske) 60:2, pp 190-200.

Predictors of Convergence Curricula in Journalism and Mass Communication Programs (Wilson Lowrey, George L. Daniels, and Lee B. Becker) 60:1, pp 32-46.

Teaching Print, Broadcast, and Online Journalism Concurrently: A Case Study Assessing a Convergence Curriculum (Laura Castañeda, Sheila Murphy, and Heather Jane Hether) 60:1, pp 57-70.

Research: Educational Leadership

Enrollment Growth Rate Slows; Field's Focus on Undergraduate Education at Odds with University Setting (Lee B. Becker, Tudor Vlad, Amy Jo Coffey, and Maria Tucker) 60:3, pp 286-314.

Faculty Productivity and Carnegie Institutional Characteristics within AEJMC Programs (Linda Morton and Fred K. Beard) 60:2, pp 176-189.

Scholarship Rates of Women within AEJMC Divisions, Interest Groups and Commissions (1994-2003) (Edd Applegate and John V. Bodle) 60:2, pp 150-175.

Research: Teaching and Learning

Applying the Technology Acceptance Model to Assess Outcomes in a Globally Linked Strategic Communication Project (Tom Kelleher and Michelle O'Malley) 60:4, pp 402-414.

Assessing the Impact of Ethics Instruction on Advertising and Public Relations Graduates (Kendra Gale and Kristie Bunton) 60:3, pp 272-285.

Best Practices of Television Journalism in Europe: How Anglo-American On-Camera Styles Violate Cultural Values, Denmark as a Case Study (Nancy Graham Holm) 60:4, pp 376-389.

Exploring Assorted Beliefs, Doubts, and Legends Regarding Quantitative Teaching Evaluations (Charles T. Salmon, Sandi W. Smith, Byoungkwan Lee, and Vernon D. Miller) 60:3, pp 258-271.

Multicultural Journalism Education in the Netherlands: A Case Study (Mark Deuze) 60:4, pp 390-401.

Symposia

Symposium: Influencing the Culture of Journalism & Mass Communication Education.

Are We What We Enroll? (Lee B. Becker) 60:2, pp 135-139.

Can Scholarly Associations Be Heard beyond the Academy? (Alison Alexander) 60:2, pp 145-148.

Doing More with Less is the Mantra of Burgeoning Enrollments (Rick Pullen) 60:1, pp 27-30.

Foundations as Change Agents and Envoys of the Status Quo (Everette E. Dennis) 60:1, pp 13-16.

Reconceptualizing the Influence of the News Industry on Journalism Graduate Education (Esther Thorson) 60:1, pp 17-22.

Scholarly Journals as a Process and Practice Mirror (Daniel Riffe) 60:2, pp 140-144.

Student-friendly Journals and Journal-friendly Curricula (S. Shyam Sundar and Mary Beth Oliver) 60:1, pp 6-12.

Values and Competencies from the Clash of Professional and Academic Cultures (Kathleen A. Hansen) 60:2, pp 130-134.

When Disciplinary Associations Move Beyond the Status Quo (Carol J. Pardun) 60:1, pp 23-26.